

Do you ... have a passion for helping, healing, and caring for others?
dream of a career in nursing, but not sure where to start?

Good news: Stark State College can get you started on the path to helping others through an in-demand nursing career.

Start with your state-tested nurse assistant (STNA) certification. Even with all you've got going on, it's quick and manageable. You'll get industry credentials that get your foot in the door and a foundation to pursue your passion and your goal.

- > train for just five weeks — day or evening available
- > hands-on classes
- > get connected to employers who are hiring
- > be prepared to pass the state test and earn certification
- > tuition assistance is available

- training begins Sept. 7
- background check required
- free tuition for Summit County residents

Elise Moore
assistant specialist
Stark State College Career Services and Workforce Development 330-494-6170 ext. 4887
emoore@starkstate.edu

pathway to your in-demand nursing career

starkstate.edu/STNA